REAGAN NATIONAL AIRPORT HOSTS 8th ANNUAL D.C. PUBLIC SCHOOLS ART EXHIBIT

May 3 Reception Honors Work of More than 300 Talented Students

Art plays an important role at Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport where the work of more than 30 artists is integrated into the architecture of Terminal B/C and rotating art exhibits are found in Terminal A. The Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority is pleased to complement our permanent collection in Terminal B/C with student artwork from more than 75 District of Columbia Public Schools. Over 300 pieces of art created by talented students in kindergarten through 12th grade are being displayed in the baggage claim level of Terminal B/C through June 12.

In celebration of the 8th annual art exhibit, the Airports Authority is hosting a reception for students, teachers and families on Thursday, May 3 at 6 p.m. in the lobby of historic Terminal A.
